

Taking Advantage of the Economic “Shutdown” and Growing by Acquisition

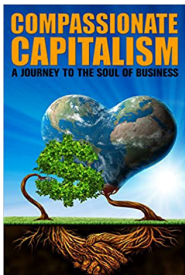

GARRY KRUM

Folding in an existing business into yours as a means to grow out of a significant downturn can be a practical strategy. Doing so with awareness that God is a creating God can broaden the possibilities to consider.

For Deeper Conversation

1. Take some time to identify possibilities you are now considering that you once opposed. For instance, a number of business leaders report they were adamant about keeping virtual meetings to a minimum and sometimes refused to participate, but now they can't imagine why they were so against them.
2. Specifically, what business acquisition possibilities or strategies are you now considering that once were off the table?
3. The video touches on an approach that blends the creative spirit of God with the dignity of businesses you might be folding in to yours. What specific implications might this have for you and your enterprise?
4. Can you identify a concrete next step you and your team would like to take?

Going Deeper Still

Compassionate Capitalism
by Blaine Bartlett and David Meltzer
<https://amzn.to/2TF3ieP>

To connect with Garry, head to convenenow.com/garrykrum